Madison Teachers Contract At Issue

Negotiation Stall
Occurs Over $1 Million Package; Schools Open

Contract negotiations between the Madison Federation of Teachers and the board of education broke down during a session Tuesday night when a union bargaining committee claimed the board was not bargaining in good faith and walked out.

Classes were held on schedule yesterday and today, though informational pickets were posted at the schools before and after school. The school year ends tomorrow.

Ray Dragich, superintendent, said the overall package presented by the federation amounts to more than $1 million in increased costs, including about $200,000 in the salary schedule. Bernard Long, president of the local and a teacher at Dunbar school, agreed with the figures.

Impossible to Meet
Dragich said it is impossible for the board to meet the demands. He said that the walk-out came as a complete surprise to board members, all of whom were meeting with the union committee in an attempt to understand the overall proposal. "This cannot be done immediately," he added, noting that some members have been making work shift changes where necessary to attend all of the meetings.

The teachers have been offered salary increases of about $31 to $56 per month. Under the plan the salary schedule would range from $687 per month for starting teachers to $1,250 for teachers with masters' degrees and $798 for those with masters' degrees plus 30 hours of graduate credit.

Top salaries after 13 years in each category would be $103, $111 and $114 per month.

Longevity Pay

The district also has offered to add longevity pay of up to $30 a year for teachers with 26 to 30 years of service in the district.

About 60% of the 115 teachers in the school district are at the top of the scale, Dragich said. Most are members of MFT Local 763.

The superintendent said that even if the district were successful in obtaining a referendum, the amount would not cover the first year's cost of the salary hikes asked by the union.

The proposal offered by the district would make it one of the three highest-paying districts.

Ernest E. Viehl, 304 Yale avenue, now completing 15 years service as a member of the Granite City Housing Authority, was elected chairman of the five-man board in the annual meeting at Tony's restaurant Tuesday night.

Viehl succeeds Walter Pfaff, a member of the authority since 1953 and chairman of the board for the past nine years.

Frank J. Fuzessery was elected vice-chairman to succeed Clarence Hoy, whose term expires this month and who plans to retire from the board.

He will be succeeded by James Cox, president of the Boiler Makers Union, upon State confirmation of Cox's appointment by Mayor Partney.

David Morgan, director of the Housing authority, serves as secretary. The other members of the authority are Earl Thompson, former Granite City alderman.

Viehl was appointed to the authority in 1954. His third term expires in May next year. Authority members are appointed to five-year terms, with the term of one member expiring in May each year.

Election of officers was the only business of the dinner session. The authority meets regularly on the first Tuesday of each month.

Special ceremonies to commemorate the departure in May 1804 of the Lewis and Clark expedition from campsite near Wood River, opposite the confluence of the Missouri and Mississippi rivers, will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Lewis and Clark Memorial Park.

Dignitaries from a number of states are scheduled to attend the program, including members of the Lewis and Clark Bicentennial Committee, Montana and Missouri.

James L. Miller of Washington, Mo., chairman of the Missouri State Lewis and Clark Trail committee, said that in addition to state committee members, representatives of 25 states bordering the Missouri river also will attend. A large delegation from Montana is expected to attend.

The dedication ceremonies will get under way at 11 a.m.

The speakers' platform will be located on the Jefferson Memorial grounds east of the river along the highway in front of the old courthouse and facing the arch.

Wig, Whisky And Fishing Gear In Theft Loot

Loot ranged from a platinum wig to fishing tackle to whisky as 10 theft cases and burglaries were reported to Quad-City police this week. One man was arrested.

A 39-year-old Venice man was charged with burglary by Venice police Wednesday in connection with a break-in at Garrett's tavern in which a quantity of whisky was stolen.

Field pending a preliminary hearing Friday morning in Granite City magistrate's court was Harold "Trigger" Terrell, 1904 Calhoun street.

He was sighted at 3:30 a.m. Wednesday by a Madison police officer who saw a man carrying a bundle from which several bottles of whisky were dropped as he fled.

The officer recognized the man who later was arrested. Police reported a side door was pried open at the tavern. The coin box also was missing from a juke box.

U.S. Coast Guard to Aid City In 'Bad Water Taste Watch'

U.S. Coast Guard crewmen on the Mississippi River will aid Granite City in its battle to end sudden outbreaks of bad-tasting water. The department was advised Monday night.

In a letter to Mayor Partney, Lt. Cmdr. Clyde T. Lusk of the Coast Guard marine inspection at St. Louis, said the Coast Guard's Corps of Engineers and Department of Interior Federal Water Control Administration are working closely with state agencies "to prevent and detection of pollution."

The officer added, "Through publicity and a vigorous enforcement program, it is hoped that progress will continue. We would appreciate your continued interest and your prompt notification when pollution is noted."

He explained that unformed sediment, all of which is dispatched within minutes after being advised of a contaminant. They inspect water craft, barges and liquid transfer terminals between Alton and the canal locks.

The city also is expecting an official of the state health department to inspect processes at the East St. Louis & Interurban Water Co. plants here.

Suggestions were made by aldermen. Robertson said the water company should extend its intake further into the river to get away from the direct flow of the river. The intake is on Chouteau Island near the confluence of the Mississippi and Missouri rivers.

24-Hour Vigil Needed
Alderman Bartosik, an employee of a Wood River refinery, said a 24-hour watch would have to be made to pinpoint the source. "Refinery effluents are not a problem in the river. You'd have to make tests every five hours for the pollutant to get into our water system."

In my opinion, the only solution is to ask the state to have inspectors on the river," Bartosik added.

Moerlein said the street and fire departments should open all hydrants to flush out the water lines when such incidents occur. Fire Chief Earl Fronabarger said the firemen do open a number of hydrants, "but we can't open them all."

City Atty. Allen reported he had written letters of complaint to the Illinois Commerce Commission and the State Health Department. The inspection of the local water plant and sewerage system is a result of the city complaints.

Junior College Boundaries Set; Exclude Quad-Cities

Final boundaries of a newly proposed Lewis and Clark Junior College district which exclude all of the Quad-City area and four other school districts, were determined last night by the Junior College district committee.

The committee, meeting in the county courthouse at Edwardsville, also decided on a total 25-cent tax rate—five cents for educational purposes and 10 cents for the building fund—to be included in the election proposal.

Committee members retained the election date of Dec. 5 which was set tentatively in its last meeting, despite arguments by Wilbur Trimpie, Madison county school superintendent, that the procedural timetable is insufficient to call an election by that time.

Trimpie suggested the election be planned for next January, but other committee members said January was a "bad month" for elections.

Express Reluctance
In determining the area to be included in the Lewis and Clark Junior College district, members expressed reluctance to exclude any territory from the district but emphasized that if the proposed area held unchanged from that voted upon in the first junior college election April 1, 1957, the proposition surely would go down in defeat again.

They noted that the heavily populated areas of the Quad-Cities and Collinsville were re-proposed for Madison County. Establishment of the college district in the 1957 vote.

The district, as constituted in last night's meeting, consequently will include all of the four-county area included in the original proposition more than a year ago, with exception of the school districts in Granite City, Madison, Collinsville, Highland and Triad.

Highland and Triad were excluded after a brief discussion of reports that the college district proposal could not carry in a vote in those areas.

The vote to eliminate these districts was taken after John Palchiff, administrative assistant of Madison District 12, in Collinsville, said that the college district proposal could not carry in a vote in those areas.

Failure of Firm to File Letter of Intent Is Basis of Charge

A hearing on a complaint filed against the Fox Bros. Co. of West Madison was authorized by the Illinois State Air Pollution Control Board in meeting here this morning, but will be held in abeyance pending a further study of the company's air pollution control program by the state board staff.

The action was taken as an early item of business after the state board convened in the city council chambers in Granite City to take up a lengthy agenda of business including action on variances, formal complaints, public hearing arrangements and reports on sulfur dioxide, regulatory goals.

A report on an Illinois coal study and another on the Air Quality Act of 1967 was scheduled to be heard in this afternoon session.

The complaint against the Fox Bros. firm charged the company had failed to file a letter of intent and a pollution reduction program as required by the state although agents of the Illinois Pollution Board had made numerous requests that such forms be filed.

Robert French, member of the state board technical staff, outlined a number of occasions on which the plant allegedly emitted through its stack a red dust compound.

Sam Fox, Creve Coeur, Mo., president of Fox Bros., presented a statement in which he detailed the company's efforts to curtail pollution by efficiently eliminate the pollutants resulting from a burning operation to turn metal scrap into an iron powder. The Fox Bros. plant has been the subject of many complaints filed with the state board and Madison police regarding emission of a red smoke.

He said that on two occasions during the past two years the plant has installed units guaranteed by their manufacturers to cut pollution by 90%, but that on both occasions neither system worked successfully and were removed.

He told the board that the third system has been installed, was actually completed yesterday and on early tests this morning showed a stack effluent that was only steam.

The company apparently had not completed all the paperwork required by the state, but asked the board to allow the newest system in place at the plant and give him time to file all data reports by the state.

C. W. Klaxson, technical secretary, said that he would take some kind of action that will bring about full compliance.

GC Steel Dividend Cut to 15 Cents

The board of directors of Granite City Steel Co. meeting in New York City Tuesday, declared a second quarter cash dividend of 15 cents per share, payable June 15 to stockholders of record May 31.

The reduction from the 35-cent quarterly rate paid since 1960 was indicated at the annual meeting of stockholders last week. Nicholas P. Veeder, chairman and chief executive officer, said the directors at Tuesday's meeting would consider some reduction in dividend rate during this period of unusually high operating costs and correspondingly low earnings.

Veeder said after the board meeting that Granite City Steel is continuing to move ahead with the slow, costly business of meshing a new computerized hot strip mill into the rest of the plant. He said the company has no other new facilities that will provide their anticipated benefits to sales and earnings once the breaking-in period is behind us.

The company is the largest steel producer in the metropolitan area and employs about 5000 people.

Building Trades Renew Policy with GC Steel

Representatives of building trades unions who members will start work later this year on two large modernization projects at Granite City Steel Co., yesterday reaffirmed their support of an agreement designed to eliminate jurisdictional work stoppages and maintain a high level of productivity.

Granite City Steel simultaneously announced that contracts have been signed for the construction of an unloading system for pelletized iron ore at the blast furnace plant and for the construction of a new blast furnace. The blast furnace building will not start until late in 1968.

John R. Hundt, vice-president of the building trades, said the extent of the two projects is noted.

He explained that unformed sediment, all of which is dispatched within minutes after being advised of a contaminant. They inspect water craft, barges and liquid transfer terminals between Alton and the canal

Storm Water Contract Award Due Next Week

Granite City is continuing to negotiate with the U. S. Housing and Urban Development Agency on the signing of a construction contract for the $2,400,000 storm water drainage system and is expecting clearance by early next week.

Alderman Bartosiek, chairman of the Special Sewer Committee, reported to the council Monday night that he is hopeful the contract with S. Wilson & Co. can be submitted for council approval next Monday night. He said the $3,086,900 bid proposal expires May 15, but a 15-day extension was obtained.

Problems with easements were noted by Mayor Partney, who said he had conferred with HUD by telephone earlier that day and concern was expressed over the easements and with reports due to the engineering firm of H. W. Lochner & Co. on the bid advertisements. Bartosiek said the sewer bond attorney, Horace Calver, the engineer and the committee are continuing to work with officials of Granite City Steel Co. and Illinois Power Co. on the easements for the storm water lines and ditches. He said the Granite City Steel Co. with information, and we hope to clear everything this week."

Bond Money Arrives
The chairman also reported that funds from the sale of the $1,555,000 general obligation bonds have been received and are to be invested in car loans to build up the sewer construction fund.

Mayor Partney said a possible way to trim construction costs would be elimination of granular backfill. "The savings could amount to as much as $100,000 because of the sandy soil condition and we could use the savings to pay the engineering and legal costs. We can also eliminate the five-block drainage line from 23rd and Cleveland that goes over to Adams street. It wasn't shown on maps and was bid in the new project. "We could use those funds to expand on drainage along Warren avenue," the mayor said.

He pointed out the city is about $200,000 short for carrying out the entire project, but with cost-cutting procedures, the prospect "looks good."

Tried to Get 5% More
The city has available the $1,555,000 from the bond issue and about $1,400,000 remaining from the $15 million grant of federal funds. "We tried to get 5% more on the federal grant, but we were advised that HUD had given the city the maximum," Mayor Partney said.

Bartosiek pointed out the engineers are restudying soil conditions for the project to ascertain how much can be saved of the $189,000 allocated for granular backfill.

Several problems pertaining to the sanitary sewer project in North Granite were discussed briefly. The city inspection office was instructed to arrange proper garbage and trash collections and the committee is to meet with the contractor on reported damage to fences along 26th place.

Bartosiek submitted a resolution which was adopted for H. W. Lochner & Co. to pay $25,000, instead of $20,000, toward a $41,100 payment to HUD for the advance planning loan for the sanitary and drainage project. The city is to pay the remaining $17,100.

Old Area Court Case Used As Prototype for New Law

Legislative revision of the method of selecting jurors in federal court cases was partially influenced by a controversial Alton case in 1966 in which a Granite City attorney filed a dismissal motion because of the jury selection system. The new legislation will become effective later this year in U.S. district courts.

Under the new law, prospective jurors in federal cases will be selected from voter registration lists rather than personal friendship with county officials and court officers.

Prior to September 1966, the federal jury commissioner in Springfield obtained names of prospective jurors from county politicians, according to testimony brought out in the Alton

Sewing Adds Up: Style and Savings

Not long ago a school teacher, on a visit to New York, went to see a Broadway show. Between the acts she found herself in a general store, matched with a woman acknowledged as one of the best dressed in the world.

"Why that woman giving you the eye?" the school teacher was asked by her husband.

"Oh, she's probably trying to figure out who 'am,' the school teacher muttered.

"How come?" the husband asked.

"Because our dresses are made of the same material," the school teacher replied, adding, "at a pretty good price, of course, I made mine myself."

Such a recognition scene is rare. But it points up a new fashion phenomenon; namely, that more and more women are sewing their own clothes and doing it better than ever before.

The Institute of Home Insurance, which reports on matters of family money management, estimates that women who sew are spending more than $1.5 billion a year on supplies.

The statistics on home sewing are awesome. It's estimated that 41 million American women have electric sewing machines. Last year was a record setter for the sewing machine industry. One company alone sold over a million machines for home use.

But sewing machines are only a small part of the home sewing picture. In 1967, the women of America bought 120 million patterns, more than $800 million worth of fabric, and $500 million worth of buttons, threads, zippers, trimmings, and accessories.

Warrior Nine Blanked 4-0 by East Side in District, Season Ends

The Granite City high school Warriors baseball team ended their season Tuesday evening at Edwardsville by being upset by the East St. Louis Flyers 4-0 in a first-round game of the regional baseball tournament.

The Warriors found the one-hit pitching combination of Dennis Decker and Steve Burrell too much to overcome, although Warriors Jim Becker and Don Rains allowed only four hits.

The game was slipping out of the Warriors' grips in the bottom of the first inning as Warrior hurlers allowed four walks, and a single by Jim Fulkner for two runs.

A fourth-inning double by Harold Santinis, a walk and an error spelled the final two runs.

Coach Joe Fedora's squad finished with a 21-13 overall record and 9-4 in league play.

The Flyers were sharp defensively, executing three double plays. The Flyers recon for the season is 11-10, but seven of the victories have been in the last eight games.

East St. Louis was to meet Lebanon in the championship game Wednesday afternoon, but the steady downpour of rain forced the postponement today, depending on conditions.

Grade School Sports Day Winners Announced

It was two days of exciting competition for Granite City public school fifth and sixth graders Monday and Tuesday as the schools met at Frohardt school for their annual Sports Day.

Barbara Kerch, physical education consultant, commented at the end of the day that it was probably the most successful meet ever held as "the boys and girls ran harder, jumped farther and threw farther than they did last year."

For example, in the boys competition held Tuesday, a new record in the high jump was set by Dale Williams jumping at 4'9".

The boys and girls each had their own day for competing, with the ladies going first. All the children were divided into three groups, based on their age, height and weight.

MORE ABOUT Two-Year

membered by Venice federation members.

Lynch was critical of the Press-Record's policy of listing salaries, saying that although teachers are employed nine months of the year, salaries are spread over a 12-month period.

Fred Durrer, chairman of the school board's personnel and salary negotiating committee, presented the new two-year contract to the board and recommended its adoption.

He complimented Local 965 representatives on their presentations and conduct during the five or six meetings preceding final agreement and said, "both sides were aware we had problems when we first started. However, all meetings were congenial and the board's salary committee and union people appeared to be pleased with results."

Two-Year Contract

Under the new two-year contract, a first-year teacher with a bachelor degree currently receiving $670 a month for a nine-month period will be paid $703 per month in 1968-69 and $738 in 1969-70, while a ten-year teacher with a master degree whose present salary is $1016 per month will receive $1188 next year and $1216 in 1969-70.

Also spelled out in the new contract are higher monthly salaries for teachers with bachelor and master degrees plus 16 semester hours of college credit in a field related to their teaching assignment.

A first-year teacher with a bachelor degree, plus 16 semester credits, will receive $721 per month next year and $757 the following school year. Holders of a master degree, plus 16 semester credits and ten years' service in the Venice school system will earn $1178 per month in 1968-69 and $1237 in 1969-70.

$25,000 for Extras

Extra-curricular duties and annual bonus payments, amounting to $25,000, were agreed upon by the Venice board and Local 965 under increased and revised fringe benefits contained in the two-year contract.

Increments of $100 per year to two Venice grade school coaches and $50 per year to two high school coaches were granted; $50 per year to junior and senior class sponsors; $25 to chorus supervisor; and $50 to school play director.

New allowance for extra-curricular assignments were awarded teachers instructing cheerleading, at both the grade and high school levels—$175 each school; and $125 payment to directors of the Girls' Athletic Association program.

Bonus for perfect attendance in a semester was raised $10 to $60 and added to the contract were bonuses of $40 per semester for teachers absent one day and $20 per semester for those absent two days.

Personal business leave, remaining at five days per year, not accumulative, was clarified in the new agreement to mean "days allowed to handle business that cannot be resolved during school hours."

Leave for Funerals

An added benefit was inclusion of five days per year funeral leave, not accumulative. Ten days sick leave per year was changed to read "no maximum on the accumulated amount."

The board and union also agreed to set for guidelines and application between now and the 1970-71 school year to initiate a program of sabbatical leaves, starting in 1970.

Also ratified by the board was a two-year agreement with Cafeteria Service Employees, Local 98, calling for annual 15-cent per hour across-the-board increases; two additional paid holidays and 50% of accumulated sick leave time paid at severance.

In other business, Board President Michael Leatherman appointed the following board members to standing committees, with the first member named serving as chairman.

Finance—Elmer Taylor, Jack Tolliver and Fred Durrer; building—Leo Davinier, Fred Rumpf and Richard Bailey; purchasing—Fred Durrer, Taylor and Bailey; and personnel—Tolliver, Rumpf and Davinier.

Supt. of Schools John O. Sullivan announced that seven Venice seniors have submitted applications to attend Belleville township junior college and request their tuition be paid by the Venice school district. If accepted by the junior college,

Insurance Agents Are Working Here

A strike of Metropolitan Insurance agents that hit the St. Louis area early this week, has had little effect thus far on operation of the Granite City district office, although two informational pickets have been posted in front of the office.

The Metropolitan office here has 33 agents. The district office is represented by any bargaining agent, such as the Insurance Workers International Union. The pickets were posted here by Local 145 of the union which includes Granite City, Alton, East St. Louis, Belleville and Collinsville districts.

Oscar Dalton, business representative of the local, said 28 agents of the Belleville office and 24 workers of the Alton office are on strike.

He said the union has 11,000 members of the 20,000 agents employed by Metropolitan Insurance Co. throughout the United States and Canada.

payment of tuition is mandatory under the Illinois school code.

Donald Mancill, Venice band instructor, was hired to conduct a summer band program for Venice students, beginning June 17. Grade and high school pupils may participate in the six week program without cost.

"Project Head Start" preschool program will be conducted in Venice again this year. Four-and-five-year-olds residing in the Venice school district are now being registered to attend three classes, slated to begin June 17.

Progress in the formation of Region I of the Special Education program was reported by Board Member Tolliver, who attended a recent meeting of the region's advisory board.

He said two psychologists, hired by the three local school districts, will operate from offices above the Madison board of education offices on Fourth street, Madison.

Cost of providing services to students in the districts will be prorated in accordance with the number of days spent in each area.

MORE ABOUT Council, Mayor

and that he saw no reason to change now.

Payments Up in Air

Payments of engineering bills also became an issue. Boyds commented that if the council insisted on the St. Louis firm, the council could refuse to sign the payment checks. Bartoskiak added that the council could refuse to sign the bills submitted by Juneau.

Mayor Partney held fast to his opinion that the mayor is authorized to name the consulting engineer.

Voting for the one-year appointment were Whittier, Rutledge, Fry and Jarrett. Opposed were Dallas, Moerlein, Bartoskiak, Boyd Poulos, Green, Parnley, Robertson, Daws and Johnson. Aldermen Basarich and Nonn were absent.

No vote was taken on the 30-day appointment, but two other motions were approved.

Aldermen Boyd's, calling for a comparison breakdown of engineering rates and Moerlein's for legal statutes, were appointed under a contract that had not been approved by the council.

Fee Schedule

Mayor Partney said the rates submitted by Juneau were the minimum—$100 per hour for a project, 95% for the next $300,000, 75% for the next $50,000, 65% for the next $200,000, 55% for the next $300,000, and 5% for the next $300,000.

How do you think you're going to pay the fees? Bartoskiak asked, adding that the council could reject Juneau's rates.

He said the council had then berated the mayor for vetoing special improvement projects in the budget last year.

"You hoodwinked the people, saying we didn't have the money, and here we ended the fiscal year with $450,000. Boyd also was critical of the mayor's vetoes of projects.

He noted the April 30 financial report showed general fund deposit of $28,000. Alderman Rutledge, Finance committee chairman, said much of that money was earmarked for capital purposes and that the year-end report would be discussed later.

The council adjourned before the explanation was made, but another meeting is set for 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Appointments Deferred

Action was deferred on approving the mayor's appointment of council committees for the new fiscal year. Boyd asked for a legal opinion to determine if the council has a voice in selection of members, even though the mayor can name the chairman.

Robertson called for the deferment, pointing out he did not believe the mayor was utilizing the talents of the council and was not giving consideration to aldermen relative to service the community.

In the chairmanships, the mayor switched Alderman Johnson from the Street committee to the Ordinance committee, in an exchange with Alderman Nonn. Jarrett replaced Dallas as Sanitary chairman, and Basarich was named Pollution Plant chairman, replacing Moerlein, who was named Light committee chairman in place of Basarich.

Rutledge remains as Finance chairman. Fry as Fire committee chairman, Bartoskiak as Special Sewer chairman and Whittier as Police committee chairman. Basarich replaces Bartoskiak as City Buildings chairman, and Whittier as Traffic committee chairman.

Fry is to replace Rutledge in chairmanship of the Planning and Zoning committee, and Parnley was named Human Relations chairman, replacing Boyd.

Whittier, as a Traffic committee chairman, Fry is to replace Rutledge in chairmanship of the Planning and Zoning committee, and Parnley was named Human Relations chairman, replacing Boyd.

MORE ABOUT Building Trades

adopted by the Building and Construction Trades Department, AFL-CIO, and the three-point supplement for this local area to this program."

The building unions involved in the new construction at Granite City Steel, Clayton said, "will abide by and adhere to the principles as set forth in those agreements which prohibit costly work practices and set up procedures to avoid jurisdictional strikes."

Handley called the resolution "an outstanding example of how mutual understanding and cooperation between building trade unions and business can work for the benefit of both and for the entire metropolitan area."

He said progressive actions of this kind help to attract new business and industry to an area.

The contract for building the pellet unloading system was awarded to the Arthur G. McKee Co. of Cleveland.

The contract for rebuilding the company's "A" blast furnace awarded to Pennsylvania Erection and Construction Inc. It calls for the installation of a new refractory brick lining inside the furnace, for upgrading the stoves used to heat the blast air, altering gas cleaning equipment and doing extensive work in changing stockhouse bins.

SW Track Meet Friday; GC Defeats Maroons

It was a gratifying year for Warrior track coach Jim Morrison as he brought his team through a season without a blemish in dual meets.

The Warriors finished the year 9-0 and now face their last challenge of the year Friday as they run in the Southwestern Conference meet at Alton. This was the best team at the high school since 1955, he claimed.

To end their dual meet season the Warriors defeated the Belleville-West Maroons 78-50 Tuesday afternoon at the losers' track.

Getting team points for the Warriors, Dan Burris placed third in the two-mile run; Dave Mullinix was first, Mike Allen second and Don Tyler third in the high hurdles with a winning time of 1:56; Jim Jones won the 100-yard dash in .10.3, with teammate Dennis Gilley second.

Richard Hull was second in the 880-yard run, and the 880-yard relay team placed first. Members of the team were Gilley, Ken Ellis, Dave Mullinix and Jim Jones. Carl McDowell won the 440-yard run in .52.7 with Warrior Ralph Rojas third.

Mullinix won the low hurdles, with Allen second. Winning time was .20.5. Mike Burris was third in the mile run. Jim Jones won the 220-yard dash with Gilley second. Mullinix won the long jump with a leap of 19'11". Carl McDowell was second and John Tyler was third.

The mile relay team won in a time of 3:46. Members of the team are Carl McDowell, Richard Cardwell, Mike Allen and Rich Hull. The shot put was won by Belleville West's sophomore Tom Stock who hurled it 54'3" for a new Belleville record.

A note for those awaiting football to start again may take into account that the Maroons will have Stock out for the fullback slot this fall.

Dave Saltich placed second and Bob Barthelmy was third in the event.

Hits Viaduct Rail

A car driven by Alexander Chapman, Overland, Mo., was damaged at 5:10 a.m. today when it skidded on rain-wet pavement on the Boardway viaduct in Venice and crashed into the south rail. Chapman told Venice police another car forced him to apply his brakes to start his car sliding.

Salvation Army Board Plans Building Fund Drive Study

Major John W. Paton, divisional secretary for the Salvation Army's Midland Division, encompassing Missouri and southern Illinois, spoke Monday afternoon to 14 members of the Quad-City Advisory Board concerning the need for new facilities to better serve the community.

Major Paton stated, "The Salvation Army program in the Granite City area has been severely handicapped for many years due to the lack of proper facilities. There is a real hesitancy to pour funds into the existing inadequate building, although some repairs will, of necessity, have to be made in order to continue operations."

Members of the local advisory board agreed to have a survey taken within the next month to determine the potential of a financial campaign in the community through which funds would be raised for a new Salvation Army headquarters building.

Survey Is Planned

Members of the local advisory board agreed to have a survey taken within the next month to determine the potential of a financial campaign in the community through which funds would be raised for a new Salvation Army headquarters building.

Sites Inspected

The group inspected three sites in the community, presently being considered for construction of the proposed new headquarters facility. Edward

The appraisal, to be undertaken at no cost to the Salvation Army, will be arranged by Major Paton, who plans to confer with the Quad-City board following the survey to re-evaluate the local position.

Preceding the noon luncheon meeting in the Grand Cafe, the Divisional officer met with members of the board's property committee, headed by A. C. Stover, and Capt. Harold F. Thomas, local Salvation Army commander.

The group inspected three sites in the community, presently being considered for construction of the proposed new headquarters facility. Edward

Fischer noted that the dinner menu has been changed to include a buffet barbecue on the Union Building patio, if weather permits, thereby adding further pleasure to the program. Reservations at $5.50 per person are now being accepted at the Chamber office, or by calling 878-6400. Those wishing to attend are urged to make their reservation today or tomorrow, as accommodation is limited, the chairman said.

The meeting will be held in the Farm Bureau office at Edwardsville, beginning at 8 p.m. Dean M. Sears, director of local government of the Illinois Agricultural Association, will discuss topics such as why the public has the right to take private property, rights of the property owner, eminent domain proceedings and special tax considerations. ## THE NUMBERS BOOK

You'll find just about every telephone number in town listed in this directory. It's your best reference when you want to make a call and don't know the number.

Of course, we'll be the first to admit some numbers aren't in the directory. For instance, numbers for new phones put in after the directory has gone to press.

This is where our "Directory Assistance" operators come in. As the name implies, they'll help you with numbers you can't find in the directory.

We used to call them "Information" operators. But then, "Directory Assistance" tells you more, don't you think?

P.S. Whether you get a number from the directory or Directory Assistance, you'll have it handy for later use if you'll jot it down on your personal numbers list.

Youth Art School to Be Held by U. of I.

Two hundred twenty-five high school juniors and seniors chosen for their ability in art will attend the 1968 Art Schools in July and August at Allerton House, University of Illinois conference center.

Seventy-five students will enroll in each of the three week-long schools—July 14-20, July 21-27, or July 28-Aug. 3.

The Allerton Park Youth Art program, now in its 18th year, is conducted under a cooperative arrangement—believed to be unique—between the University of Illinois division of University extension and the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, with assistance from the U. of I. department of art.

The university is in charge of instruction and furnishes the facilities. The Women's Clubs provide tuition scholarships for all pupils, and are responsible for supervision and recreation. Participants are chosen to attend—usually by nomination of their high school art teachers to local Federated clubs—on the basis of promise in art.

Ill. State to Recruit Poverty Area Students

A program to recruit disadvantaged students who have the potential to achieve in college is being announced by Illinois State University.

The university will recruit a number of students from poverty areas limited only by the availability of funds. The program is a step in a long-range plan to significantly increase the number of disadvantaged students who attend the university.

Dr. Richard R. Bond, vice-president and dean of faculties, and Dr. Howard J. Ivens, director of admissions, in making the joint announcement, said financial and scholarship aid will be made available to potential students who otherwise could not afford to go to the university.

Once the students are on the campus, special counseling and tutorial services will be offered in an effort to facilitate their adjustment to the university setting, Dean Bond said.

Illinois State is undertaking the program, he explained, because "of an obvious need to enter the poor areas of our cities and to make college education possible for students with good minds, but poor resources."

The effort will begin immediately, the dean stated. Representatives of Illinois State University will go into impoverished areas to locate students who have the ability to succeed in college. University personnel will talk with school administrators, teachers and social workers in such areas in an attempt to identify these students.

Members of the present student body at ISU who are from those areas will also help in the identification and recruitment process.

When a prospective student cannot meet the University's specified academic entrance standards, but it is believed he has the potential, interest and motivation to succeed, the ordinary admission requirements will be waived, Mr. Ivens said.

Scholarships and other financial aid, some of which is to be sought from the federal government, will be sufficient to enable a limited number of students to come to ISU, regardless of their financial conditions. In addition to such aid, work-study programs, which enable the student to earn money at a job while going to school, will also be utilized.

New Draft Procedures Cut Job Placements

Recently enacted procedural changes in the draft are cutting heavily into the placement of college graduates in business and industrial positions, a placement official at Illinois State University, Normal, reports.

Dr. Wilbur Venerable, associate director of placement at Illinois State, said that at ISU and other institutions around the nation, a reduction in recruiting of graduates by many companies is being felt.

One large firm he cited has canceled recruiting visits to Illinois State and 21 other colleges. A utility company that hired nine ISU graduates a year ago and planned to take more this year has cut back almost entirely in its hiring program.

The cancellation of some government contracts has caused part of the recruiting reduction, Venerable explained, but the basic reason is the change in draft procedures, with occupational deferments hit hard.

County's Total 1967 Tax Bill Is $38 Millions

A total Madison county tax bill of $38,549,854 has been extended by the county clerk's office for the 1967 tax year, County Clerk Eulalia Hots announced Tuesday.

The new tax charge is $1,014,542 more than the $36,535,312 extended for the 1966 tax year and collected in 1967.

Of the total amount, Miss Hots reported, $25,022,055 was billed for the county's 14 unit school districts, two high school districts and two common school districts. The school tax is an increase of $1,944,174 over the $23,077,919 extended for school purposes a year ago.

A total of $3,323,874 was extended for the county, up $655,846 over the $2,668,028 extended for county purposes last year while the total tax bill for cities and villages amounted to $5,080,700, an increase of $313,144 over the $4,777,616 cities and villages tax for the 1966 year.

Township and road and bridge taxes for the county's 24 townships total $2,006,049 in the new tax extension, down from last year's $2,244,300. Sanitary district taxes rose slightly to $1,080,078 in the building to be collected this summer. Last year sanitary district taxes amounted to $1,037,657. Bulk of the taxes for sanitary districts will go to the East Side Levee and Sanitary District. There are five smaller districts in the county.

Fire Tax Up
Taxes for fire protection districts in Madison county also went up this year. The new tax bill is $272,912, compared to $236,841 extended a year ago. Park district taxes, however, fell off slightly, dropping to $458,922 this year, compared to $461,039 last year. There are four park districts in the county, including Granite City and Venice.

Fire Tax Up
Tax for the Wood River Township Hospital rose to $330,519 for the 1967 year, an increase of $65,684 over last year's $264,915 tax bill. Other tax extensions included in the $38 million total include, with last year's figures in parentheses: street lighting districts, $3982 ($4141); Civic Memorial Airport, $175,096 ($189,571); Dog tax, $4665 ($4387); Canton Creek Drainage and Wood River Levee district, $90,747 ($86,183).

The amount of outstanding delinquent tax was cut considerably by last year's collections. Miss Hots reported the extension for back taxes for the 1967 tax year amount to $62,150. Last year the delinquent tax extension was $1,890,700.

Strong Points of Soccer Stressed

Dick Laak, program chairman for this week's meeting of the Rotary Club, held Tuesday at the YMCA introduced Bob Kehoe as the guest speaker. He is a member of the St. Louis Stars and was captain of the U. S. World Cup Soccer Team along with being the public relations man and the radio voice of the St. Louis Soccer team.

In his talk he gave the strong points of the sport, saying that most of the American sports public are unaware of soccer and underates it here, although it is very well known all over the world and is played in 134 different countries.

Physical contact is not part of the game, although there are plenty of kicks and punches, Kehoe said. Speed is an important qualification, and a good player must have the ability to control the ball with his body and not use of the hands and arms. Endurance and physical condition of the player is stressed and soccer players are the best conditioned athletes of all sports, the speaker added.

The game is played with two 45 minute halves on a field, 110x75 yards. There are no set plays and the size of the player does not make any difference as long as he can control the ball.

Sports stadiums throughout the world are built to accommodate 100,000 fans of the sport. The highest paid soccer player known is a member of one of the Mexican teams who earns $341,000 a year excluding his bonus and money earned for advertising of products.

Arthur R. Koerper, club president, announced the installation of new officers, will be June 20 at the Rose Bowl, and Ralph Smith (R-III), Speaker of the House, will be the featured speaker. A past district governor, Prof. George T. Wilkins, will serve as the installing officer.

Dean Maherry will be the program chairman for next week's meeting.

Ezra Pound—A Man And His Times

"Ezra Pound: A Close-Up" by Michael Reck, New York, 203 pages, $5.95.

(Reviewed by Alan M. Cohn, director of the Humanities Library at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale. Review published in the Daily Egyptian, SIU Department of Journalism.)

Ezra Pound is surely one of the most controversial literary figures of our time. As a leader of the avant-garde movement of the first half of the century, he aided and influenced a host of writers, from W. B. Yeats and T. S. Eliot down to a legion of minor literatures.

But the literary revolution he helped guide has largely been won and its principles accepted long since.

The controversy in recent years has instead centered on Pound's politics.

Pound exiled himself to Europe in 1907 (the immediate cause was the refusal of the administration of Wabash College, where he was then teaching, to accept his having put up a stranded burlesque show dancer in his digs overnight).

Aside from a few short visits, he never returned to the U.S. until after World War II. He had lived many years in Italy, had championed Mussolini and Fascism, and had been in Rome during the war. In 1945, the invading American troops imprisoned him, and he was saved from being tried for treason only on the testimony of a board of psychiatrists that he was incurably insane.

This part of Pound's career is covered, albeit by Michael Reck, but it is the middle section of his book that provides the "close-up" he promises in his title. Pound was returned to Washington, D.C., where he was committed to St. Elizabeth's, the federal government's only mental hospital, in 1946. He was permitted guests during his incarceration, and they came by the tens. Some were such unsavory disciples as John Kasper, a racist who was much in the news in the middle 1950s.

But others were of a different sort, as was Reck, who revered the aging poet not for—but in spite of—his exotic political and economic ideas.

Reck's account of his conversation with Pound shows us first-hand during these trying years. Reck admits to the "apologetic tone that pops up here and there" in explanation of Pound's unpalatable politics.

Reck believes, in part, that Pound was driven to them by a society which allows one of its more writers to live "an uncertain income for forty years." This is no doubt too superficial an answer to his question.

John R. Harrison's recent book, "The Reactionaries," deals more thoroughly with the available phenomenon apparent in some of the country's greatest writers (Yeats, Lewis, Eliot, Pound, and Lawrence, along with Pound).

But Reck is surely right in claiming that "fifty years hence, people will remember Pound's achievements, not his politics."

"Pound talked little about his poetry at St. Elizabeth's," Reck tells us. "And I avoided asking for explanations, because the verse speaks for itself or not at all."

With such an attitude toward some very difficult poetry, no wonder that the final, brief section that Reck devotes to a consideration of Pound's work is rather elementary and impressionistic.

The student will want to go elsewhere, then, to find significant work in the poet's life. But Reck's book will be a useful introduction to the man and his times.

8% of Taxes Goes to Debt Interest

By the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois

Charlie Green, our representative American taxpayer, will pay $2200 in federal taxes for fiscal 1968. This total figure includes the estimated burden of indirect taxes. For this analysis our representative American taxpayer is married, the father of two and earning $10,000 a year.

Of the $2200 in federal taxes that Charlie pays, the largest amount goes for national defense. This category costs him $894, or 40%.

About one-fourth, or an estimated $614, will go to finance federal health, labor and welfare programs. Another big portion of his tax payments, $168, will go just to pay interest on the federal debt.

The following table shows the interest rate is 3 1/2 percent—$750,000 a year of interest. But Washington doesn't have the $100 million in hand. It has to sell government bonds to raise the money.

And it pays at least 4.65 percent interest on the bonds. Any fool can see that there's a loss on the interest.

Uncle Sam paid $4,650,000 in interest on the $100 million, but recovers only $750,000 when he puts it out on loan.

You can go broke doing that. Right? At the rate of $3,900,000 a year.

Government Costs Soaring But Inflation May Keep Wages, Budgets From Buying As Much

The cost spiral in government at all levels is proceeding at an unprecedented pace, accelerated by inflation, growth of services and staff size, the population expansion and the increasing ability of employees to obtain substantial yearly hikes without direct reference to productivity or available revenue.

Because labor makes up the bulk of government spending and because wages are climbing faster than some other segments of the economy, it is clear why taxing bodies seldom are able to keep pace with this year's dimensions.

But ignoring of the productivity factor and of the need to avoid deficit financing can hardly continue indefinitely without impairing the objectives of both citizens and government pay-rollers.

Regardless of how high salaries or budgets climb, the apparent progress can be rendered meaningless by lowered purchasing power and reduced living standards and decreased administrative effectiveness.

Setting such considerations aside to return to the original thought, the upward march reached to the original thought, the upward march reached to the original thought, the upward march reached to the original thought.

But Reck is surely right in claiming that "fifty years hence, people will remember Pound's achievements, not his politics."

U.S. Should Help Strengthen Law Enforcement By Block Grant Method

U.S. Senators Dirksen and Percy are right in introducing an amendment providing for block grants to states to improve local law enforcement agencies. The Omnibus Crime Control bill, to which the amendment was proposed, calls for grants directly to individual agencies.

The amendment would insure that Illinois receives at least $27 million over the next three years in federal tax aid for law enforcement.

States already are taking some steps to meet the increased demands of effective law enforcement, implementing the Law Enforcement Assistance Act of 1965, and the block grant plan offers the funds and encouragement to speed up progress.

As Sen. Percy says, "The federal government can and should provide financial stimulus and reinforcement in the improvement of law enforcement, but the leadership and initiative should come from the states."

The block grant approach has the endorsement of at least 47 state governors.

Among those voicing support have been Otto Kerner before his resignation as governor of Illinois and Richard Ogilvie, president of the Cook county board and a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor.

The amendment is needed because it would shift responsibility for administration of both planning grants and law enforcement grants from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration in the Department of Justice to cooperative states. Each state would be entitled to $100,000 for the purpose of planning, with additional funds made available on the basis of population.

Backers of HR 5037 and of amended S 917 cite these advantages:

1. States could take the lead in coordinating and in avoiding overlapping and fragmented law enforcement, playing a constructive role in improving its quality.

2. Failure to encourage a positive action by states will mean an assumption of additional powers by Uncle Sam, undermining the primary state and local responsibility for law enforcement.

3. Provision for a non-political advisory commission of enforcement officials from all levels of government could reinforce the voice of state and local governments in allocation of funds, helping assure that the money is used in the most effective manner.

It has been customary in this country, and the concept remains sound in 1968, that a federal police force should be avoided. There have always been well-defined limits on the authority of the enforcement agencies of the Justice and Treasury Departments.

Because money involves power and because routing through Washington inevitably causes much of the funds, it is vital that law enforcement administrative decisions be made by the 50 states, impeded as little as possible by federal red tape, dictation and expense.

The four departments are in one way or another, health and safety, streets and public improvements, and public property.

Each Appointee Employees A commissioner is superintendent of his department and appoints municipal workers.

Only 5% of Illinois' municipalities operate under the commission system. It is often criticized as demanding too much time and knowledge from private citizens untrained in government.

The council-manager system, while not working too well in Wheaton, is supported, wholeheartedly in Barrington, a suburb northwest of Chicago.

John Blanke was Barrington's mayor for 35 years. He has been a council member for 15 years. Three years after Patrick J. Gaffigan took the managerial position, Blanke said he had done an "excellent job" as city manager.

A short time later, the Barrington Press ran an editorial in support of the formerly opposed managerial system.

"We believe it is unrealistic to return to the commission system. . . . Too many things are going on in Barrington for anyone except a village manager to efficiently handle."

"Even with a village manager, there's the problem of the board handling all its business in speedy fashion. It's becoming more and more the trend to solve modern problems with an antiquated meeting system."

TEACHER PAYS TRIBUTE TO MRS. ARMFIELD

To the Editor: As a fellow-worker of the late Mrs. Gertrude Armfield, I am sure countless school patrons join me in expressing the greatest loss her death brings to us. It also brings fine memories of her dedicated work with children.

At request of the late Superintendent Wensel Brown, during World War II, Mrs. Armfield, assisted by Mrs. Wells Mawdsley, took charge of a government day-nursery at the local YMCA. Working parents placed their children in the nursery from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.

At the close of the nursery, the first local public kindergarten was organized by Mrs. Armfield at Washington school. More than once her class reached one-hundred pupils with half reporting in forenoon and half in the afternoon. At that time the EMH program had not been initiated. However, Mrs. Armfield coped with these problems through her genuine love for and understanding of children. For instance, one handicapped ten-year-old boy refused to talk to anyone. Yet through Mrs. Armfield's constant coaxing and devoted personal attention, that boy gave a beautiful solo rendition of Silent Night at the school's Christmas tree.

She had a knack of helping everyone, youth or adult, with their frustrations, problems and sorrows. No doubt it was due to her love of people. Being a voracious reader, she was a stimulant through her conversational. Her keen sense of humor allowed her to laugh at her own shortcomings and to tolerate those of others. Disappointments did not sour her viewpoint of life. A dedicated worker to help others achieve their potential and to attain a stable outlook on life was her philosophy. She seldom forgot a face after she met an individual.

Mrs. Armfield seemed to possess such a full measure of empathy for others that our area is a better place because she lived, loved and worked with the children of this area. A TEACHER

MCCARTHY FOR PHASED WITHDRAWAL IN VIETNAM

To the Editor: Senator Eugene J. McCarthy believes that the Vietnam war, now costing close to $80 million a day, must be de-escalated. The U.S. should begin a phased drawdown of American troops and press the Saigon generals to negotiate a settlement with the National Liberation Front.

First priority in allocating our nation's resources must be given to urgent domestic needs. We cannot have safe and beautiful cities, decent housing, decent education for all Americans. We must guarantee to be made a reality. Apprentice programs must be expanded. More jobs must be provided by private industry, with the help of federal subsidies if necessary.

A national housing program would establish a goal of at least one million new and rehabilitated units. The promises to our nation's school children must be kept. Federal school aid programs, which are being founded at as little as half the original cost, must be fully financed.

Inflation must be checked, and a tax increase avoided. We must guarantee to all Americans a minimum livable income. In the process, we must replace the welfare and outmoded welfare programs.

Farmers must have the right to secure parity prices through collective bargaining. Senator McCarthy believes these programs will "get America moving again."

Law Protects Juvenile Offenders

(Tri-City and Illinois Bar Associations)

The juvenile who is charged with a crime in Illinois receives the same legal constitutional protections to which an adult is entitled, plus some constitutional considerations due to his age.

Juvenile court procedures present a unique combination of the rights of lawyers to protect the legal rights of children and the desire of social workers to treat juveniles with psychological and psychiatric techniques.

Thus, the juvenile court hearing is divided into two parts—an adjudicatory hearing, or trial of the charges and, if necessary, a dispositional hearing. At the latter, the judge decides what is to be done with a child who is found to have committed the alleged offense.

The adjudicatory hearing is conducted in accordance with a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision that juveniles must have the same rights as adults defendants in any criminal case.

The juvenile has a right to counsel, including a court-appointed attorney, if necessary; the right to cross-examine witnesses; and other guarantees.

Ordinarily, a minor child is charged simply with "violation of the law" rather than a specific crime, such as burglary or theft. The charges are usually vague so that, regardless of the finding of juvenile court, the child will not go on record as a criminal offender.

Illinois passed the nation's first Juvenile Court Act in 1899. It was revised and modernized in 1965.

50 YEARS AGO

MAY 23, 1918 Two of the three robbers who held up the Tri-City State Bank at Madison have been captured and $13,100 of the $18,000 stolen from the bank has been recovered. They were captured in Cincinnati and are to be returned to Madison county this week to stand trial. The leader of the gang has not been caught.

50 YEARS AGO

MAY 23, 1943 Along saturated and seeping in a number of places, the old levee on the Chouteau levee protecting farm land between the main levee and the Mississippi River was still holding today.

The hundreds of volunteer workers were encouraged in their battle to keep it intact by a slight drop in the stage of the river. Crest was 39 feet, and it may fall to 38 during the next 24 hours.

There are no dangerous spots in the big levee, maintained by the East Side Levee District. The Engineers Dept. has been supplying thousands of sandbags and men against flooding about 4000 The Chouteau Island levee has broken, flooding about 4000 acres of land, including Chouteau Slough road. The water also spilled over the Chain of Rocks Bridge highway, shutting it off to traffic.

Sandbags are being filled from a sand deposit at West 23rd street and Ohio avenue. The Red Cross, Salvation Army and Nampaok PTA have set up kitchens and kept a steady flow of sandwiches, doughnuts and cigars to the tired men and women.

For a while it appeared that it was a losing battle, with some of the piled sandbags being swept away at the base of the small levee, and volunteers who could not swim were ordered out. After instructions were given not to run to the big levee but to go to the top of the small levee and run away from any break, work was resumed and the continued bolstering enabled the levee to stand.

GC Tax Bill Typists to Work at CD Building

Granite City's tax bill typing crew will work in the City Defense building, 1411 Nineteenth street, instead of the main fire station.

Granite City council members reconsidered the action of May 6 after receiving a letter opposing use of the main station from Harry Hillman, president of Firefighters Local 233. The letter was supported by a delegation of about 25 firemen and their wives, who were in the council room to oppose use of the fire station by a crew of 14 typists. Last year, there was considerable inconvenience for the firemen, it was pointed out by Alderman Fry, chairman of the Fire Committee.

Alderman Bartosik, chairman of the City Buildings committee, said he had made the recommendation on May 6 after conferring with Treasurer E. R. "Pat" Rich. "He told me fireproof quarters would be needed, or it would be necessary to haul the books back and forth to the city hall each day," Bartosik said.

Rich indicated Monday night that while the books were the only set of tax records in the county and that the city had to put a $600,000 bond to get them, he did not believe it would be necessary to haul the books back and forth each day.

Reappointments OK'd
In other business Monday night the council confirmed the reappointment of Eugene R. Burnett, a former police chief, to the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners. With his term to expire May 1, 1971, and the reappointment of two members of the City Plan Commission, Barry Loman and Boyd Presley, whose terms will expire May 1, 1972.

Accepted by the council was the resignation of Mrs. Velma Zang Wenzel, secretary in the inspection department office. The resignation, effective May 15, was due to illness.

Library Budget
Authorization was given for a study to be made to determine the cost of a fulltime attorney for the city.

The Illinois Municipal League is to be asked for information on other cities that have fulltime attorneys and the salary figures. City Atty. Allen said he believed an attorney with municipal background could be hired at a "suitable salary," but he did not specify an amount. Council members commented on the large amount of legal work and expressed the need for fulltime legal service. However, the Finance Committee was asked to get the cost figure.

Prior to the start of the meeting, the council met in caucus to discuss a recent injury lawsuit against the city in which a $17,500 judgment was handed down. No appeal decision was made.

Re-Coding City Laws
Council members also discussed briefly the urgent need to recodify city ordinances. The present city code dates back to 1959. Mayor Partney pointed out that when it was done, the Board of Local Improvements was eliminated. He suggested the council should consider reinstatement of the board.

Johnson Rd. Bids Now Under Study

Bids on the first phase improvement of Johnson road were listed too far down on the agenda to be considered at Monday night's Granite City council session, but they are scheduled to be brought up at tomorrow night's 8 o'clock carry-over meeting.

The council did act on several communications concerning the project—giving permission to Illinois Power Co. to relocate a gas line now under the roadway and accepting a letter from the state highway department confirming approval of the city's request for an additional $135,000 motor fuel tax funds.

Bids were received from two firms for the proposed improvement from Carlson Avenue to Franklin Avenue. A. E. Seebold Co. bid $203,892 and G. H. Sternberg & Co. bid $227,237.

With the $135,000 added MFT allocation, the city has $235,000 MFT funds for the project, which is to include a concrete pavement, curbs, sidewalks and drainage.

The gas line is to be relocated from 1315 Johnson road along the north side to Franklin Avenue—a distance of 3560 feet and all excavations across the roadway.

Bill to Aid Schooling Of Vet Widows, Orphans

Widows of deceased veterans and wives of permanently disabled veterans of world war II, the Korean conflict and the Vietnam action will be eligible for education benefits under a proposal adopted by the U. S. House of Representatives, according to announcement by Cong. Melvin Price, (D—East St., Ill.).

Cong. Price is a sponsor of this type of legislation during this session of Congress and introduces similar legislation last year. The bill which passed the House Monday afternoon now goes to the Senate where Cong. Price is urging early consideration and approval.

Under terms of the measure, the War Orphans Assistance Act would be amended to provide 48 months of education to widows and wives of permanently disabled veterans during a period of eight years following the first eligibility. Educational assistance allowances would be the same as those payable to eligible children pursuing an education under the war orphans program; $130, $85, $60 a month for full time, three quarter time, or half time school attendance, respectively.

Man Held for Trial After Venice Arrest

Dennis F. Robinson, 23, St. Louis, was transferred from the city jail at Venice to the county jail at Edwardsville pending a magistrate hearing on a charge of resisting arrest and for non-payment of fines on three other charges.

Robinson was arrested by Venice police at 1:45 a.m. Monday following a high-speed chase through Venice and along Route 3 through Brooklyn. He was charged with speeding, two charges of passing stop signs and resisting arrest. Arraigned Monday in Granite City magistrate court, Robinson pleaded guilty to the stop sign violations and speeding, but pleaded not guilty to resisting arrest. He was fined $35 and assessed $10 costs on the speeding charge and fined $10 with $5 costs on each of the stop sign violations, a total of $60. Police said he did not pay the fine and did not post bond on the pending charge. A hearing will be set later.

Rev. Dr. A. Ralph Lynn to Mark 50th Ministry Year

Rev. Dr. A. Ralph Lynn, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Granite City for 26 years and now Minister of Visitation at First Presbyterian Church in Alton, will observe the 50th anniversary of his ordination into the Christian ministry Sunday.
